I am an illustrator and author living in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. My first book, Catawampus, The Story of a Crooked Cat, was released in 2025.

As an artist, being able to create a visual world through which a story is told and shared is both rewarding and challenging in the best possible ways.

I've always been inspired by classic fairy tale illustration, and my collection of vintage children's books is never far from reach! I also have a love of history, cats, and tea, not necessarily in that order. I received my BFA in Illustration from Moore College of Art & Design in Philadelphia, and worked in the education field for many years. In addition to book illustration, I also do whimsical children's and pet portraits by commission.
